THE FOUR PILLARS

01 / STRENGTH

Progressive overload done right. Compound lifts, tracked numbers, and a plan that forces adaptation week over week.

02 / CONDITIONING

Build an engine that doesn't quit. Intervals, tempo work, and zone training programmed around your lifting - not against it.

03 / NUTRITION

No fad diets. Protein-anchored, portion-based eating you can run for life - at home, at work, and at the restaurant.

04 / MINDSET

Discipline beats motivation. Daily standards, a scorecard you answer to, and habits that survive bad weeks.

A WEEK IN THE METHOD

MON	LOWER STRENGTH	Squat focus + posterior chain. 45-60 min.
TUE	ENGINE	Intervals: 30/30s or tempo run. 30 min.
WED	UPPER STRENGTH	Press + pull supersets. 45-60 min.
THU	RECOVER	Walk 8k+ steps, mobility 15 min, sleep 7+.
FRI	FULL BODY POWER	Hinge, sprint, carry. 45 min.
SAT	LIVE HARD	Run club, hike, sport - move with people.
SUN	RESET	Meal prep, plan the week, scorecard review.

This is the shape of the week - your version gets built around your schedule, your level, your goal.

THE DAILY STANDARD

- / Train or move with intent - every day counts, not every day is hard.
- / Hit your protein target before you negotiate anything else.
- / 8,000+ steps. Non-negotiable.
- / Phone down 30 minutes before bed. Sleep is a training day.
- / Log it. What gets measured gets managed.
